NOVEMBER 6, 2019
ROCHESTER, MINNESOTA
Dr. Samantha Nutt is a distinguished humanitarian, bestselling author and acclaimed public speaker. A medical doctor and founder of the international humanitarian organizations War Child USA and War Child Canada, Dr. Nutt has worked with children and their families at the frontline of many of the world’s major crises – from Iraq to Afghanistan, Somalia to the Democratic Republic of Congo, and Sierra Leone to Darfur, Sudan. A leading authority on current affairs, conflict, international aid and foreign policy, Dr. Nutt is one of the most intrepid and recognized voices in the humanitarian arena. With a career that has spanned more than two decades and dozens of conflict zones, her international work has benefited millions of war-affected children globally.

Dr. Nutt’s critically acclaimed book Damned Nations: Greed, Guns, Armies and Aid was a No. 1 bestseller. Dr. Nutt has spoken at TED Talks Live: War & Peace in New York, and her talk on the deadly impact of small arms is featured on TED.com with over a million views. She is a recipient of the prestigious Order of Canada, Canada’s highest civilian honour, for her contributions to improving the plight of young people in the world’s worst conflict zones. Dr. Nutt is a staff physician at Women’s College Hospital in Toronto and an assistant professor of medicine at the University of Toronto.

Recognizing Generosity

This lecture is made possible with generous support from Robert H. and Susan M. Rewoldt, longtime patients of Mayo Clinic. Mr. Rewoldt (1929-2018) credited Mayo Clinic with saving the lives of his family members “many times over.”

Mr. and Mrs. Rewoldt established the lecture in 2013 as an expression of gratitude to their Mayo Clinic physicians and caregivers, and in memory of his parents, Martha and Fred Rewoldt. As Mr. Rewoldt explained:

“It is my fervent hope that funds I am committing be used for education and awareness of issues of peace, health and government for Mayo Clinic’s medical and administrative staff, students and visitors.”

As a member of The Mayo Legacy and a Distinguished Benefactor of Mayo Clinic, Mrs. Rewoldt continues the tradition of generosity that she and her husband began in supporting the mission of Mayo Clinic.
